ADMIRAL SIMS ASKS HOOVER BE SUMMONED

Says He Will Corroborate Story Navy's Tardiness.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 11.—Herbert Hoover will be called to testify in the senate investigation of the navy's conduct of the war.
Rear Admiral Sims told the inquiry committee today that Mr. Hoover had an intimate knowledge of the situation in Europe at the time America entered the war and asked that he be summoned to substantiate the admiral's testimony with regard to the gravity of the allies' position at that time.
In granting the request Chairman Hale did not say when Mr. Hoover would appear but Admiral Sims said he would like to have the former food administrator called before he proceeded further in order that there "should be no doubt in any mind that I have substantiated the part of my letter in which I described the gravity of the crisis which we faced in 1917 and pointed out how near to disaster the lack of action by the department at that time brought us."
"The allies indeed barely escaped a peace without victory," said the admiral.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 11.—Indications that the navy department withheld sending all available American naval craft to European waters early in the war because of a desire to keep the main body of the nation's sea strength intact for possible eventualities were contained in Admiral Sims' testimony today before the senate committee investigating the naval conduct of the war. He read a cablegram from the navy department, dated Jan. 10, 1917, containing an outline of the department's policy and declaring that "while a successful termination of the present war must always be the first allied aim and will probably result in diminished tension throughout the world, the future position of the United States must not be jeopardized by any disintegration of our main fighting fleet."

To Send Minor Forces
The same cablegram, Admiral Sims said, contained this statement:
"The navy department announces as its general plan of action the following: its willingness to send its minor fighting forces in any number not incompatible with home needs to any field of action deemed advisable by the allied admiralty council; its unwillingness as a matter of policy to separate any division from the main fleet for service abroad although it is willing to send the entire battleship fleet abroad to act as a united but co-operating unit when the emergency is deemed to warrant it."
With regard to this message and statement of policy Admiral Sims said it was the "first definite statement of policy I had received, arriving a few days over three months after we had declared war."

"The astounding features of this policy were, however, that while it stated our intention to co-operate to the fullest degree, still such co-operation was conditioned first upon an adequate defense of our own waters and next upon the future position of the United States after this war was finished," said the admiral. "I am wholly unable to conceive of any war policy based upon the requirements of any possible future war."

Realization at Last
A message received from the navy department, dated July 5, to the effect that several small vessels were being sent to augment his force "indicated that they were at last beginning to realize that there was a war being fought in European waters," declared Admiral Sims.

On April 23, August 24 and September 19, 1918, Admiral Sims said he wrote the department expressing his disappointment at the apparent non-success of the destroyer-building program in the United States and urging the necessity of "speeding up" production of antisubmarine craft and sending every available small vessel to the war zone even at the expense of the protection of the coasts of the United States.

"I am only introducing testimony so far along in 1918 at this time to bring out the accumulated effect of not having thrown our full weight into the war at the beginning," the admiral said.

DIXON KIWANIS GOT CHARTER AT ROUSING MEETING LAST NIGHT

Fine Session Followed Supper at Elks' Club Dining Room.

The Dixon Kiwanis club enjoyed a sumptuous banquet, followed by a program of unusual interest in the dining room at the Elks' club house last evening, the event being arranged for the presentation of the charter to the local club, and was open to the ladies, many of whom were present. President Walter Watkins called the meeting to order immediately following the banquet, which was served by the lodge house committee. I. B. Hoeffler conducted a half hour period of singing of popular songs from the Kiwanis hymnal.

Attorney Daniel S. Wentworth of Chicago, was one of the principal speakers of the evening and the first to be introduced. He is one of the members of the international board of trustees. He took up the subject of local conditions and the need of help to stimulate the active bodies of business men and citizens to make for a bigger and better Dixon.

"It is a human trait of character for us to do the same thing that some one else has done," he said. "The question that now confronts this body and your citizens is, 'Where is Dixon wrong?' Where is Dixon to be paraded or led? You Kiwanians are being watched here in Dixon. You are no longer individuals but compose a strong and able organization. Let us hope that as such you do not follow in the footsteps of others but do better and then when other organizations excel, put on your spurs and keep pace with them."

No Longer Afraid
"The Chamber of Commerce was afraid for a time that Kiwanis would tread on its toes. They are afraid no longer and if you care to substantiate this statement, take either Precept or Rockford, your neighboring cities for instance. There have been too many in the Chamber of Commerce who are in them as a matter of policy. In Kiwanis there is no commercialism. All organizations can take unlimited memberships. The Kiwanis movement takes the "pep" men from all of these organizations after combining them, puts their feet on the accelerator. You must function in your Kiwanis club or get out of it and let some one function who can and will."

BOND ISSUE FOR SOLDIERS MIGHT BE DISASTROUS

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 11.—A bond issue of $2,500,000,000 for pay adjusted compensation to former service men "might result in disaster," Secretary Houston today told the house ways and means committee, which is considering soldier relief legislation.
Increased taxes to extend aid to former service men was suggested by the secretary as "the least harmful way, but he said the proposed expenditure of two billion dollars would be a serious one for people to confront at this time."

"The present financial situation is not critical," Mr. Houston said. "Economy by the people, avoidance of waste in expenditures, economical appropriations by congress and prudence in handling these appropriations will naturally relieve the situation."

An attempt to sell bonds and place other paper on the market at existing rates of interest would be difficult, he said. Further credit expansion which has been a factor in the upward trend of living costs would be inevitable if another bond issue were approved, he said.

NOVEL HOST

Pancho Villa

The noted Mexican rebel says relatives of Americans taken by him need have no fear for them, as he will do them no harm and will not hold them for ransom. Villa, according to his statement, likes the Americans so well he has to seize one every now and then to entertain him and learn something of what is going on in the outside world. In this connection it is noted that Americans recently taken by the bandit have been released without ransom.

VILLA SIMPLY INSIST YANKS BE HIS GUESTS

Pancho Explains No American is Held for Ransom.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 11.—Relatives and friends of Americans kidnapped by Pancho Villa need have no concern as to their safety and may dismiss all fear that they may be held for ransom if they repose full confidence in a communication recently received from the Mexican bandit leader. According to his note of reassurance he has adopted the only practical means he can think of to get a friendly conversation with various representative Americans who cross his trail, and while they are his "guests" they will be treated with every consideration and returned unharmed and unrobbed to their friends.

The substance of Villa's communication was transmitted unofficially to officers of the intelligence branch of the war department coincident with a consular report received at the state department announcing the release of Joseph Williams who had been carried off into the mountains by Villa last week after an attack on a train in which Williams was a passenger. Williams was the fifth American captured by the outlaw in two months, all of whom have been released without the payment of ransom.

In the message Villa explained that only a vague idea of what was going on in the outside world could be had where he was and the desire to learn more, to gain the American's point of view and a determination to give opportunities to carry back with them some of his own theories of what a government of Mexico should be had caused him to determine to gather in his guests where he might find them regardless of their willingness to accept his invitation.

Trains number 3 and 15 passing through Dixon went west at an early hour this morning were detained by way of Savanna to Clinton.

FRANCE COMPROMISED BY WILSON'S ATTACK SAYS FRENCH WRITER

Says President Has No Right to Talk of "Imperialism."

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Paris, March 11.—President Wilson's charge against France made in the letter he sent early this week to Senator Hitchcock, democratic leader, are said by "Pertinax," political editor of the Echo de Paris to be aimed at France by name, but at Marshal Foch by implication.
"The so-called imperialism of France," says the writer, in discussing Mr. Wilson's letter, "consists in the conviction fortified by all the lessons of history, that to guarantee herself against attacks from Central Europe, she must hold the Rhine bridgeheads."

In the course of his article "Pertinax" says President Wilson went to the session of the supreme council on May 28, 1919, much perturbed and read to Premiers Clemenceau and Lloyd George a letter from Perpetua B. Noyes, American member of the Rhineland commission who declared the agreement reached on May 11 for the administration of the Rhineland was "more brutal than its authors themselves would desire, as it provides for intolerable oppression of 6,000,000 inhabitants of the region during many years."

Noyes Suggested Plan
Mr. Noyes' letter added that American officers with whom he had discussed the question strongly supported his view and was accompanied by a plan of occupation involving a minimum of military domination, it is said.

"This plan," the article asserts, "was nothing more or less than the convention providing for occupation of the Rhineland signed with Germany at Versailles on June 28, 1919, because President Wilson was able at the meeting of May 29 to impose the views of Mr. Noyes of the supreme council, and a new commission consisting of Marshal Foch, General Tasker H. Bliss, American peace delegate and Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson, chief of the Imperial staff of the British army, received strict orders to prepare a new scheme of occupation based on American ideas."

More Than They Claimed
The writer declares Marshal Foch in discussing the plan evolved by this commission, said:
"The Germans asked for an imperial commissioner and they were given not only a commissioner but a civil administration commission which is much more than they claimed."

"These words of Marshal Foch," he continues, "characterize the whole business today. In consequence it is plain to see the Rhineland shares fully in the life of united Germany and in the distribution of coal there Germany goes so far as to distinguish between inhabitants she supposes favorable or unfavorable to us."

"In a word the work of France is compromised by Mr. Wilson after such examples of our moderation. President Wilson has no right to talk of our imperialism."

DECADENCE OF NATION RESULT PURITAN MANIA

Chicago Doctor Declares Ascendancy Dangerous.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, March 11.—Dr. William J. Hickson, head of Chicago's Psychopathic Laboratory, today declared the decadence of the nation can only result from the ascendancy gained by women in affairs.

"The women have secured the drop on the men in this country," said Dr. Hickson. "The nation has put its head in the noose of puritanism and degeneration of individual and national fibre is inevitable."

Dr. Hickson said, "prohibition is typical of the modern puritan mania," and added:
"The church movements are typical. They, with prohibition, with so-called high standard of morality, result in a deterioration of masculine physical and mental virility. There is a falling off of creative ability. The lowering of the birth rate already is notable. American pep, which was the result of a masculine dominated country, soon will be a thing of the past."

"The effemination of man already is noticeable. The male today is inferior in most respects to the female. He is aping her in the matter of clothes. He bows to her legislation and vaguely whoops it up for her reforms. He is fast taking second place and with his fall there is no question that production in the United States, mental and material will decline."

Hope for New Coal Wage Agreement to Continue Production

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, March 11.—The subcommittee of operators and miners appointed to negotiate a new wage agreement for the anthracite coal miners held its first conference here today. The sessions are expected to continue for several weeks before a definite decision is reached.

Neither the miners nor operators are hopeful of an early decision as no definite agreement will be reached until the bituminous coal commission hands down its award in the case of the soft coal miners.

Asked when he expected the bituminous commission to make its award, President John L. Lewis said:
"It is impossible for me to forecast the date of a possible decision. I am concerned that the commission has not made a report up to this time. It will be recalled that existing wage agreements do not run beyond March 31. I am hopeful that a decision will be rendered at an early date so as to insure a continuance of coal production after April 1."

Government to Lose Half Billion in Tax

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 10.—The loss to the government as a result of the supreme court's decision declaring stock dividends not taxable as income will be nearly half a billion dollars, according to an estimate today by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Tappan.

With some 4,000,000 dividend returns on the bureau's files it will take months to make an accurate estimate to the effect of the decision, Mr. Roper said, but a hasty search indicated that $70,000,000 paid in 1917 and 1918 will have to be returned while the loss in uncollectable taxes in 1919 will be $100,000,000 and that for 1920 $200,000,000.

Some of this loss, the commissioner said, will be offset by the tax on stock sales. Mr. Roper emphasized that estimates of the government's loss are not official and that the loss might be found to be larger.

PRESIDENT HAS NAMES OF RAIL MEN SELECTED

Will Pick Three of Ten Names Submitted to Him.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 11.—Labor leaders' nominations to the railroad board the wage board of appeals on which the public will have representation, were submitted today to the president. There were ten names from which the president will select three to be sent to the senate for confirmation along with three from the railroad executives and three representing the public. The railroad executives have not yet completed their list nor has the president selected the public group.

The shop crafts, one of the three groups into which the sixteen labor unions were divided, named only two men. None of the names was made public, but it was learned that the shop crafts chose A. O. Wharton, president of the railway employees department of the American Federation of Labor and B. M. Jewell, who during the time Mr. Wharton served as a member of the railroad administration's wage adjustment board, acted as president of affiliated unions.

The union groups, with the exception of the shop crafts, were reported to have been far from unanimous in the selection of their representatives. Each individual union fought vigorously to have its own choice included in the nominations and the controversy threatened to become serious until it was agreed that the names would be submitted to the White House without any indications from the unions as to their first and alternate selections.

Chicago, March 11.—Sharply higher prices and a general rush to buy resulted in the corn market today from wet weather and from the fresh upward trend of sterling exchange. Indications of heavy crop damage to winter wheat in Kansas tended also to strengthen corn values. Besides offerings were light. Opening prices, which ranged from 1½ to 1¾ higher, with May 1.47½ to 1.48½ and July 1.41½ to 1.42½, were followed by decided further gains.

Oats were firmer with corn. After opening 1½ to 1¾ higher, including July at 76¼ to 76½ the market continued to harden.

Provisions responded to the advance of corn and sterling. Demand, however, was not urgent.

MACHINE VOTES IN IOWA HOUSE NO SENSATION

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Des Moines, Ia., March 11.—The day of the roll call for the vote of members of the Iowa house of representatives is past. No longer will the clerk monotonously read the names of the representatives and take from fifteen minutes to half an hour to learn their attitude on any question. Hereafter all voting in the house will be by machine, and time required will be from less than a minute to a few minutes at most.

Work of installing the machine, for which $15,000 was appropriated by the legislature at its last session, is about complete. When all is done the representatives will find a little contrivance on their desks in which is fitted a small key. A certain turn will record the representative as voting "Yes," another turn "No" and still a different turn will place him on record as present but not voting, or paired. A light on his desk will show him how he voted, and an electric light on a large board at the front of the house chamber will show the public how he stood on the question under consideration.

When the speaker of the house gives the word to vote, the clerk will turn a switch, which will put the machine in readiness to operate. Legislators may vote as rapidly as they please and in the order they please. When completed the result is flashed to the speaker and clerk by an electric contrivance, and for permanent record a photograph is taken, developed and delivered to the clerk. From the instant the clerk has turned off the electricity at the end of the voting the record stands fixed.

DIXON KIWANIANS GET THEIR CHARTER

Kins with the charter for the Dixon Kiwanis club and with it the best wishes and congratulations of the international officers.

Dixon's Advantages

President Watkins in his acceptance address, outlined some of the advantages that Dixon offers to the business world and which are generally unheeded by the citizens. Among these he mentioned the ideal railway service, the Lincoln Highway, a national outlet from New York City to the Golden Gate of San Francisco, the pure drinking water supply, the fine school system and many other advantages too numerous to mention. He advocated that the time was ripe to step on the accelerator with all force, and make Dixon the place it should be with these natural advantages.

Barney Thompson, editor of the Rockford Republic was the next speaker to be introduced and in his characteristic manner, he held the attention of his listeners for many minutes. He told of the chorus that the Rockford Kiwanians had perfected, a body of men who within the past few days have hurled a challenge to the universe for singing. "Dixon has the qualities to make other clubs fear strong competition," he said. He closed his remarks with a brief outline of the principles of Kiwanis and extended the sincere greetings from the Rockford Kiwanians.

Freeport Men Talk

Edward Bengstrom and Arthur Haaw, trustee and secretary of the recently organized Freeport Kiwanis club, were heard in short talks as was Edward H. Bigelow of New York City, who is responsible for the Dixon organization. Secretary H. H. Heinze read several telegrams from other clubs in Illinois who had been extended invitations to be present at last evening's meeting but were unable to attend.

In sending out the invitations to members of the club, the secretary enclosed suggestion slips. Some of these have been mailed back to him and some were read last evening, among them these were found:

Some Suggestions

"Dixon will be 90 years old on April 11. Why not arrange to celebrate this anniversary."

"Why not clean up the streets of Dixon?"

"Better and more modern store fronts and modern window lighting effects."

"Arrange to encourage the washing of windows in every building in the business district."

PHIDIAN ART CLUB—

Mrs. Mark Keller entertained the Phidian Art club on Tuesday afternoon. A very good program furnished an afternoon of enjoyment.

The first number was a piano solo by Miss Dorothy Raymond, who played, "Regardon" by Helen Hopekirk and for an encore gave a "Song" by Adolph Jansen. Both numbers were much appreciated.

The club had the pleasure of listening to two readings by Mrs. Burnham, "Making the Best of Things" by Mirandy, and the second a poem of a more serious nature. Both were in keeping with the times and added much to the program.

Mrs. Moss gave a most interesting paper upon "Eminent Women of France." The subject had so wide a scope that but a mere sketch of a number of the many great women of France could be given.

The first considered was Joan of Arc, who after bringing victory to France and restoring Charles the VII to the throne, was burned at the stake for witchcraft. Catherine de Medici, the cruel queen who ruled with an iron hand and was a prime mover in the massacre of St. Bartholomew; the kind and good madam de Manton, the friend and advisor of the king and later of his wife who was contrasted with Mme. de Pompadour, the lowly born mistress of Louis XVI; the beautiful Marie Antoinette, who came from Austria, the sworn enemy of France and tried to be friendly to the people in her new home, only to become the victim of many intrigues and during the terrible days of the Revolution to go to the guillotine with her husband, these and many more were mentioned.

Madam de Brun, the friend of Marie Antoinette, became very famous because of her art. She painted more than 600 portraits.

Madam Roland dominated the affairs of France until sent to the guillotine by the terrible Robespierre.

After the reign of terror the most prominent woman was the Empress Josephine, who was crowned at Notre Dame, and lived in the most beautiful palaces in France until the most pathetic time of her divorce because of the ambition of Napoleon for an heir to the throne. She rests at Rheims.

Madam de Stael, who for her writings was banished until Napoleon was sent to Elba, was a noted author and pupil of Rousseau.

Empress Eugenia, the gay queen of Napoleon III, had to flee Paris when her husband was captured. England offered her a haven and now a woman of 90, she still quietly visits the parks and scenes of her former life.

Rosa Bonheur, the artist, is probably the most noted painter of animals in the world.

Mrs. Moss mentioned last Madam Currie who, with her husband discovered radium.

The paper given by Mrs. Moss showed much research and closed a most excellent program. A social hour, with refreshments, followed.

ENTERTAINED IDEAL CLUB—

Mrs. Blake Grover, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Harned, delightfully entertained the Ideal Club.

certained the members of the Ideal club at an afternoon musicale. Mrs. Grover followed with some very delightful musical numbers, several of MacDowell's compositions, Tarantella by Piezonka, and the Barcarolle by Offenbach. Current events were discussed by Mrs. Lloyd Lewis and quotations from Lincoln were given the club members in response to roll call. The pleasant afternoon closed after the serving of enjoyable refreshments by the hostesses.

Mrs. Hetler, a member of the state executive board, read a letter from the state president. Plans were made for a home-baking sale to be held Saturday, with Mrs. Clarence Kelly, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Spencer, and Mrs. Fordyce in charge. The penny collection of the afternoon amounted to 74 cents. The meeting closed with the singing of The Star-Spangled Banner.

AFTERNOON COFFEE—

 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 teaspoon salt

Scald milk and stir in meal while boiling. Let cool, but not so cool as lukewarm. Beat eggs well. Add ingredients to corn mixture and stir thoroughly. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake an hour and a half. Serve with lemon sauce.

HAD SCRAMBLE SUPPER

The scramble supper held by the Junior Gym classes last evening was attended by about 30 of the boys and they all had some time. After the "cats" the boys who were on the winning teams in the basket ball and athletic leagues were presented their "Y's" and as each boy received his letter he made a short speech telling what he thought of his, the tournament, etc. The captains of the other teams also made speeches. After this part of the program was over a detail of K. P.'s was selected and they got busy at once. The evening was wound up by some games in the gym and a swim in the pool. The boys who received "Y's" were Geo. Aschenbrenner, H. Bokhof, C. Beebe, R. Young, R. Charles, F. Goff, W. Lough, J. Kennedy and W. Miller.

Menu for Tomorrow
BREAKFAST—Sliced bananas with uncooked cereal, corn dodgers, marmalade, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Apple fritters, crackers and cheese, tea.
DINNER—Breaded veal cutlets, potato soufflé, buttered peas, orange and date salad, baked Indian pudding and coffee.

My Own Recipes
 Although veal cutlets are a rather light meat course for dinner, the rest of the food contains energy building substances in proportion to make up. In the luncheon menu the fritters satisfy the appetite and the cheese furnishes the protein in concentrated form.

CORN DODGERS
 3 cups corn meal
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 dessert spoon lard
 Boiling water
 Mix cornmeal, salt and lard. Scald with boiling water, making a stiff batter. Beat hard for five minutes.

NOTICE.
 The Aid Society of the Presbyterian church, Franklin Grove, has postponed supper until next Saturday evening, March 20th.

BERMUDA.

Senator Kenyon's resolution for an inquiry into the possibility of purchasing the Bermuda Islands might well be addressed to the Bermudians, themselves. America is ready to buy the Bermudas and all of the West Indies belonging to European powers. But, only on condition that the inhabitants want to become American citizens.

Senator Kenyon is wrong in saying the matter is one primarily of naval strategy. True, Great Britain has a naval base in the Bermudas, but so she has at Halifax. Naval questions should no more influence discussion of America's desire for the Bermudas than was the case over the purchase of the Danish West Indies.

America has never felt insecure against a possible naval attack because of foreign ownership of the Atlantic seaboard islands. Every effort to develop an agitation for purchase on that ground in the past failed. It will scarcely attach the people of the islands to the United States if they are told the Navy Department and not the American nation bids them welcome. They should be invited into Uncle Sam's family as human beings, not as impersonal centers of strategy.

Sentiment is the controlling reason for annexation. The nearness of the Bermudas and the West Indies to the American mainland would make them desirable additions to this federated democracy. But America wants neither white, black nor brown natives of nearby lands to come under the Stars and Stripes in a rebellious mood.

THE TREND OF THOUGHT.

In a very material period, when such problems as reconstruction, labor disputes, business difficulties, high prices, trade expansion, social readjustment and many others, are so much before mankind, the bodily side of life seems all-important.

And yet on every hand there are indications of such a spiritual longing, so deep an interest in exploration and study of those things beyond this human life and outside this bodily existence that they cannot but cause consideration and speculation.

The most apparent indication of this trend of thought is the sudden popularity and prominence of Spiritualism. The librarian of a leading reference library declared the other day that the demand for books on Spiritualism exceeds that for works on any other subject. Newspapers and magazines bristle with stories on the topic.

Nor is the spiritualist religion the only field of mental, spiritual and metaphysical study which is winning investigators and converts.

No one can say today what belief is correct and what is wrong, whether there is any basis of fact to popular theories or whether the world has gone off on a tangent. But there is evidence of a sincere, world-wide longing to know the truth.

The belief in a soul or other-being, the hope of a life eternal and the conviction that there exists a Supreme Power, are natural attributes of many, found in the lowest stages as well as the highest. Since early times men have puzzled over these questions.

WHY ROB THE GRAVE?

The booze issue in the United States is dead. It has been buried. There is less chance of bringing back the era of rum than of substituting the ox-cart for the automobile.

For years and years the people of this land debated the liquor problem. Every side of it was argued over and up and down. Slowly but surely the wave of popular opinion swept over the traffic, and swept it out of legal existence in this country. Whisky died hard, it is true, but it died.

It seems difficult for a few to realize that John Barleycorn has passed away—FOREVER. They couldn't persuade themselves that he was dead last July 1 when they saw him in his coffin. And now they profess to believe the old rum-sodden drink habit is turning over in his grave, anxious to be dug up and restored to command of the army of liquor drinkers. But it is all a mistake. The saloon is a thing of the past in America. The drunkard is gone. Demon Rum is a political issue in the United States just as slavery is an issue; as the Purchase of Louisiana is; the Stamp Acts of George III are!

The sooner Governor Edwards of New Jersey and the few "wet" leaders interested in his beery candidacy, realize this the sooner they can turn their attention and effort to solving some of the real live issues now confronting this country.

ANGRY FROWNS.

Somebody asks why people frown or scowl when angry.

The frowning brow, the flushed face, the clenched fists and the general muscular tension are all part of what people still call the "expression" of anger. But 30 years ago William James in this country and Lange in Denmark both worked out a theory that the "expression" of an emotion really helps to make it—that if one did not feel the scowl, the flush, the tightening muscles, and all the inward bodily changes that go with them he simply would not be angry.

And James asks his reader to try the experiment, and see how colorless the anger that he feels or tries to imagine really is when he lies back in an easy chair with a smile on his face and all his muscles relaxed.

The experiment is a good one, and it teaches a valuable lesson, for there can be no doubt that to manage the "expression" helps one to manage the emotion itself; though some of the bodily changes back of it, like the flush of the face or the altered beat of the heart, cannot be controlled so directly and so easily as that part of the "expression" which depends upon the "striped" or voluntary muscles.

But if the frown helps to make the emotion, what makes the frown?

It is not something made on purpose, like the "faces" that children make at each other. But it is a useful form of action inherited from ancestors who go all the way back to the beginnings of human life.

A flush, a frown or a raised voice can break no bones; but it is a very good sign of something else that can—a sign that others learn to respect, and thereby avoid a conflict that may mean wounds or death for both. So long as men will fight and dogs will bite and bulls will gore and snakes will strike, scowls and barks and snorts and rattles are a means of safety for all concerned.

TOMORROW'S POWER.

A few years ago the hardy sons of New England sailed the summer and the winter seas in search of the whale and a few vats of whale oil supplied the world's need.

Today oil comes from the heart of mother earth, in great black gushers, boiling out in rivers, trickling out in greasy streams, sometimes only oozing through the soil, but these rivers and lakes and little streams, however fast they flow, are ever an ebb tide when the surge of the world's demand is considered.

How long will the "gas age" last, and what is next?

Engineers who are looking ahead for generations, say electricity will be the coming force.

Rivers are being located on for power projects that may not be developed for twenty years, but capital sees ahead and is getting ready.

The west has water power by the hundreds of thousands of horsepower yet untouched. Highpower transmission lines will take this hundreds of miles; new improvements in storage batteries will make electricity available for truck, tram, railroad train and maybe airplane.

MR. ALLIGATOR'S STORY

Mr. Alligator blew his nose quite loudly and then began his story. Nick and Nancy sat on their fashionable chairs as quiet as little mice, listening.
"Once upon a time," said he, "Mrs. Alligator and I were not society leaders like we are now. You may not believe it to look at us, but we lived in a mud bank beside a swamp in Dixieland, and we were very poor. When the children were born it was all we could do to get enough to eat, a few prawns, and an eel now and then, and some stotes. But we were happy enough until we saw how rich people lived. Pierrot, the French poodle, who lived with his mistress in a house near us, had chocolate eclairs and a chicken wing every day; Salmagundi, the Persian cat, at the hotel, had rich broth and custard for "Once upon a time," said he, "Mrs. Alligator and I were not society leaders like we are now."

his dinner, and Chatterbox, Miss Wiling's parrot, had sweet cakes any time he wished.

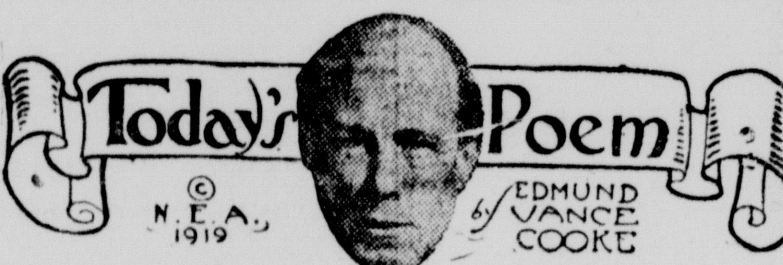

"But it wasn't what they ate, so much as the fine things they had, that we envied. Such jeweled collars, and silk cushions to lie! Why, Chatterbox even had a gold perch!"

"Well, well, I must hurry," he went on, "but I'm sure that if you have any pets at home, children, you won't be so foolish as to give them airs and make the rest of the animals unhappy."

"Oh, no, we don't," cried the twins. Don the dog, only gets left-overs and Caesar the cat, likes milk. Jocko, the monkey, we're hunting now, is stuffed with seaweed and doesn't eat at all."

"Speaking of Jocko," said the Magical Mushroom, popping its head out of Nancy's pocket just then, "don't you think we'd better be going soon?" The Green Shoes, too, were impatiently tapping the floor.

"Why, I've only begun," said Mr. Alligator, "but I'll promise to hurry." And I'll tell you what he said tomorrow.

OUIJA.

By Edmund Vance Cooke

I wish I were a ouija-board
And some rank profiteer
Would ask me where to place his board,
I'd tell him, never fear!
I'd recommend some oil well stocks,
Which soon would make him on the rocks.

I wish I were a ouija-board
And when the day was spent,
I'd loose some pleasant words I've stored
For him who jumped my rent.
I'd tell the Shylock-shocking thief
That of all robbers he is chief!
(I'd tell him in the flesh, but then
The cuss might boost my rent again.)

I wish I were a ouija-board.
I'd hand it to the boss,
And though his name were Schwab
or Ford,
I'd tell him "Come-a-across!"
I'd name the sum I'd like to earn

To even up my tax return.

I wish I ran a ouija-joint
And then when Woodrow came
And asked me whom he should appoint,
I'd indicate a name.
And if the name were mine—oh, well,
That name I know best how to spell.
I'd also hint a mild desire
Concerning some he still might fire.
I wish I were—and you would see
When some big mutt should come
And lay his loutish hands on me,
I'd be both deaf and dumb,
Or I might be induced to tell
In three short words where he might dwell.

But if some dainty-fingered miss
Should stroke my wood, oh boy!
I'd spell her that, or tell her this
And fairly jump for joy.
But if she held me on her lap
And asked about some other chap,
Some other chap whom she adored,
Oh, then I'd be a ouija-bored!

YOU MUST HELP.

There is probably no greater menace to the health and efficiency of the American people today than the venereal diseases.

Tens of thousands of women are in a state of semi-invalidism because of gonorrhea contracted from husbands who thought themselves cured before marriage.

Large numbers of babies are hopelessly blind from this disease.

Uncounted numbers of women will never bear children because gonorrhea has made either the husband or wife sterile.

Syphilis is causing insanity, paralysis, locomotor ataxia and degenerative changes of the vital organs. No disease known to medical science has such a harmful effect on the offspring.

Gonorrhea and syphilis together, it is estimated, are costing the people of the United States approximately $500,000,000 annually.

Of course you want to get rid of this awful scourge, only you do not know just how.

The State Boards of Health and the United States Public Health Service have organized a systematic attack on venereal diseases. The problem has been studied scientifically and a program to control the menace has been agreed upon. The necessary machinery in national and state government has been established.

The only essential thing lacking is the will of the people. Just as soon as the people of the United States definitely decide to eliminate the venereal diseases, these diseases will go. Won't you help us? Write to the Information Editor, U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C., for an instructive leaflet entitled, "Is This Enough?"

SUCH IS LIFE

H. S. STEIN

Threadbare but happy, he roams the streets of Manhattan, Kan., asking for old rags and searching for tinfoil.

And as he picks up bits of rags, there are no thoughts of regret in his mind—not wishing for the days not so many years ago when he had thousands of dollars and drew one of the best salaries paid any scientist in the country.

It hasn't been so many years since H. S. Stein had money and responsibility. But he is happiest now, for his work is to make others happy, not to get money for himself.

Mr. Stein was one of the best authorities on mineralogy in the country. Now his travels take him only about the streets of his home city. But in his other years he visited every state in the Union as well as dozens of foreign countries.

"Daddy" Stein, now 77 years of age, lives in the Odd Fellows' Home, four miles from Manhattan.

In his many trips to other lands Mr. Stein was honored for his knowledge of mineralogy, archaeology, chemistry and paleontology. He was an authority on those subjects.

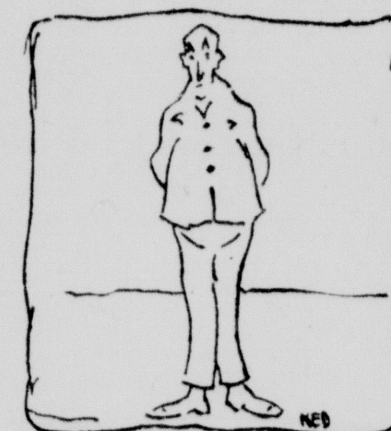

Those scientists and educators who received him with awe probably would be surprised to see "Daddy" Stein picking rags and tinfoil.

Why does he spend time that way? It is for his little friends. He sells the rags and tinfoil to dealers here and, with the money, buys candy which he carries in his tattered pockets and distributes among the hundreds of children who have come to know and love him.

To "Daddy" Stein the old days have not gone. He still lives them over in his memory. As he sits in his small room at the lodge home or as he wanders about the streets and alleys at his self-imposed task, he lives over again the days when he was met by committees of learned men who bowed and scraped at his approach.

Being "Daddy" Stein to hundreds of little children is better than being world famous—according to this 77-year-old philosopher.

THIS, TOO, IS LIFE.

Some are slender, some are stout
And they want to change about.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

FROM FATHER FOLEY.

Editor Telegraph: Tuesday night Mayor Smith from his official chair at a public meeting of the city council charged me to my face with having publicly made a statement that I know to be false.

In the Elks' club house at a meeting to enlarge and reorganize the Chamber of Commerce, I said that a woman on the north side lost her home by having a cement walk and curb put on a 200 feet of ground that she owned. The facts as stated by the woman herself to me as I remember them, were these: She had nursed her mother and brother through long sickness and buried them. The mother died of the infirmities of old age and the brother of paralysis. She had absolutely no money. In order to meet the payments she borrowed money for which, as security, she gave a mortgage on the ground on which was her home. The ground with her home was sold to pay the mortgage and in that way she told me she lost her home.

If that is not losing a home through taxation I do not know what losing a home is. And, consequently I now again publicly state that the woman lost her home. And I now publicly state that the woman herself told me that she lost her home.

I made the same statement that the woman lost her home at a previous meeting of the city council, or it may have been in the council room after the council had adjourned, and Mayor Smith told me that the property was sold for a good price and I do not at all doubt his statement. But whether a good price or a bad price, it was sold to redeem the mortgage. And the woman told me that she lost her home.

Now as to the accusation made by the mayor to my face that I know the

Or perhaps the man was too busy to make a careful diagnosis of the case."

FIRST WITH NEW STYLES

It is through our doorway that the new styles first make their appearance,—because it is here that Society Brand and other of the better makes of fine clothing are sold.

Yesterday and again this morning we received advance shipments of suits and medium and light-weight overcoats that embody the new Spring styles.

Both single and double-breasted garments are in the lot and the new half-belt in the back models with French pleats. Also several suits with patch pockets that will be so much in vogue this year.

There's an "easiness" about the new coats that you'll like. They're roomy and comfortable—and full of style-smartness. And Society Brand Clothes are all-wool—always.

We commend these advance showings and suggest early selections.

CADILLAC

It has taken seventeen years to make the Cadillac what it is today.

Such an achievement is not to be attained in a single year—scarcely in a decade.

No matter how sincere the desire, no matter how complete the manufacturing equipment, no matter how capable the executive minds, time is indispensable.

It must be a growth, an unfoldment, nourished by the highest ideals.

It is possible only with an assembly of skilled craftsmen working in unison, year after year.

Long training in Cadillac standards has so imbued Cadillac craftsmen with the Cadillac spirit, that the unworthy method and the inexpert practice would excite their contempt.

An organization may be likened to a fine machine. It may be well designed, its parts may be accurately made and carefully assembled, but its highest efficiency is reached only after it has been "run in" and its components brought into thorough accord. The "running in" process of the machine may be a matter of days or weeks, but in a huge organization it is a matter of years.

The Cadillac organization comprises thousands of high-type human units. The most essential of these, through years of association, have come to co-operate in a harmony which parallels the product—the Cadillac car—Standard of the World.

THE WOMAN WHO LOVED--AND EARNED

CHAPTER 82.

Robert was so quiet all the evening that Betty asked:

"Is Robert ill? I never knew him to say so little. He usually full of life. We used to say things commended to him when he came around. We were alone in the kitchen. Betty was getting supper."

"No—he isn't ill. But, Betty, he is discouraged over his work. He doesn't get on, you know." My cheeks flushed as I said it. I had been so proud of Robert. But even this half apology hurt. But I had to say something.

"Come on out, boys!" Betty called.

Robert still showed no animation. He ate his share of the crooked chicken, then he and Frank smoked while Betty and I cleared away.

"I'm sure he is ill," she remarked. "He doesn't look well, and he is so quiet—and different."

I made some excuse, and we soon left.

"Betty thought you looked ill, Robert. Aren't you feeling well?"

"I'm all right."

He said nothing more all the way home, and scarcely spoke after we reached our room save to answer a question.

"Mary, I want you to lunch with me," I said the next morning. "I have to talk to someone and you're the only one with whom I can talk over my private affairs."

"Little Mary is always on the job when secrets are being told. Nelson—she's a clam. Never talks—forget it, it is necessary."

At luncheon I told her first of how Robert had again been staying out, that he had been drinking a little, and frequented the pool room often than was good for him. It may not have been a dignified thing to do, but I could not decide upon anything that offered any reasonable surety of making him happier.

Easy to Make This Pine Cough Remedy

Thousands of families swear by its prompt results. Inexpensive, and saves about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and very pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "½ cures of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-Four Hours.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if two bottles of Allenburh, the sure conqueror of Rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenburh has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Allenburh relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenburh, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenburh decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed all druggists to guarantee it in every instance.

NEGRO MURDERER OF LITTLE GIRL TAKEN TO CHAIR THIS MORN

Petrie Kimbrough, Alias
Wm. Lockett, Paid Penalty for Crime.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Eddysville, Ky., March 11.—Petrie Kimbrough, alias Will Lockett, convicted slayer of Geneva Hardman and confessed slayer of four other women, died in the electric chair at Eddysville prison at 4:22 o'clock this morning.

There were slight signs of emotion on the negro's face as he was placed in the electric chair and the black cap lowered over his head. Prison electrician Collier turned on the electric current which killed Kimbrough within fifteen seconds.

Two brothers of the Hardman girl and seventeen Lexington citizens together with eight soldiers and twelve prison guards witnessed the execution, which apparently was carried out without a hitch in pre-arranged plans. Prayed For His Victim.

The negro refused to make a statement when he was taken from his cell. Continually, however, during the night he was heard praying aloud and singing hymns. He declared yesterday he was ready to die and that he prayed for the ten-year-old girl he killed and the entire Hardman family.

It was to protect Kimbrough from a mob that Kentucky militiamen recently fired on a crowd at Lexington, which later was patrolled by federal troops.

Served In U. S. Army.

Lockett was 30 years old, a native of Henderson, Ky., and a soldier at Camp Zachary Taylor, during the world war. The victim was Geneva Hardman of South Elkhorn. She was killed on the morning of Feb. 4, 1920.

The murder of the little girl near the village of South Elkhorn aroused the people there. Her non-appearance at school resulted in finding her mutilated body in a corn field beside the country road. Posses late in the afternoon found Lockett, apparently a wandering negro, at Dixontown, six miles from the place of her death. He was taken to Lexington whence the authorities spirited him to the state reformatory at Frankfort. The same night a long line of automobiles loaded with armed men, made a demand upon the authorities for the possession of the negro. Governor Edwin P. Morrow warned the crowd that the negro would be protected at any cost and it dispersed.

Justice Moved Swiftly.

On February 8th, guarded by nearly 100 members of the state militia, Lockett was taken to Lexington, in a special grand jury was impaneled, an indictment was returned, and within forty minutes after he was placed on trial Lockett was convicted and sentenced to be electrocuted here March 11th.

Announcement of the verdict seemed to anger the crowd outside which had grown large. A man with a rope yelled, "Let's get him," and led the mob up the court house steps. Adjutant General De Weese, in command of the militia, attempted to halt the crowd but it pressed on and the guardsmen opened fire. Five persons were killed and twenty were wounded one of the wounded dying a few hours later.

Governor Morrow was advised and called upon the federal authorities for troops. Within a few hours, two riot battalions of regulars were formed at Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, and under command of Brigadier General F. C. Marshall were on the way to Lexington in special trains. Arriving there in the middle of the afternoon, General Marshall detraind his men in riot formation, with fixed bayonets. They marched up the street to the court house. Within forty minutes, army authorities say, crowds were cleared from the streets pickets were posted, patrols were established and Lexington and Fayette county declared under martial law.

Confined In Cage.

Lockett meanwhile was confined in a cage within the court house, where he remained until the night of Feb. 10, when he was taken from the court house, marched down the street in the center of a squad of soldiers and placed on board a special train bound for the state prison. Early the next day, with squads of men deployed at intervals between the railroad station and the prison, Lockett was taken from the train and within a few minutes was in a death cell.

A grand jury which investigated the riots announced that although testimony has been submitted warranting indictments none was returned because they would "only aggravate an already tense situation."

Put New Right Ear Upon Man in Omaha

The following from an Omaha, Neb., paper, telling of surgical work done by Dr. J. P. Lord, son of Mrs. John L. Lord and brother of Miss May and Gus, Paul and Fred Lord of this city, will be of interest to Dixonites:

An interesting piece of work in facial reconstruction was successfully completed Monday when Anthony Robinet, 21 years of age, left for his home in Hospers, Iowa, with a new right ear to take the place of his own which was severed from his head in an accident eight years ago.

The ear was modeled by Dr. George M. Boehler and tinted to reproduce the translucent appearance of the natural ear by Doane Powell. The ear was fastened to the head by Dr. J. P. Lord.

Dr. Boehler, who was a member of Nebraska Base Hospital, No. 49, studied facial reconstruction in Sidcup, the Queen's hospital, in London.

In modeling the ear, he first reproduced the natural ear in wax, and from this model made a mold into which he poured the composition of which the ear was finally made.

Dr. Lord fastened the ear to the head by means of platinum wires which are concealed in openings in the head. The finished ear is difficult to detect as artificial, so nearly is it reproduced in color and form. "Gee," said Robinet, "I can't begin to tell you how much it means to me."

The operation was the first of its kind to be performed in Omaha.

And Accordingly Are Losing Much in So. America.

Santiago, Chile, March 10.—Chilean merchants complain of delays in delivery of goods ordered from the United States and that in some cases their orders are not filled by North American manufacturers, because the United States does not use the metrical system of measures.

Some Chileans declare that, instead of consulting the wishes and peculiarities of the Chilean market, the American seems inclined to sell only what he has to offer and to impose conditions.

As evidence of this situation the Chileans cite the case of a firm of wholesale dealers who placed in the United States a large order for light summer wear textiles which were needed here in December. They paid 30 per cent on account and after awaiting shipment were advised that it could not be made before the end of January. This cost that firm its summer trade. The Chileans say that no explanations can condone that.

The newspaper business is declared to have been completely taken away from the United States by Norwegian competitors because the Americans cannot guarantee deliveries nor prices.

One firm of iron founders placed a big order for material of various qualities and dimensions and two months later received advices that the material could not be shipped as the manufacturers could deliver goods only to approximate metrical measurements.

There is some complaint that there seems to be no system in the North American export business and that the sellers have lost sight of the principle that the buyer is not forced to buy unless he chooses, that he has opportunity for choice and will buy where he obtains satisfaction in quality, delivery and credits.

Chile imports about $150,000,000 worth of goods annually and, now that the nitrate export trade is booming, there is an active market here for machinery for new enterprises, steel and iron for public works and railroads, iron for private industry, petroleum, textiles, sugar and automobiles.

John D. Jr. Denies He Pays Anti-Saloon Leagues Salary

Chicago, March 10.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today emphatically denied the statement of Louis A. Cuvillier, New York assemblyman that he is paying the anti-saloon league superintendent of New York a salary. "The statement is absolutely false. Ridiculous. There is no foundation for it," he declared.

Mr. Cuvillier who is the author of the resolution, adopted by the assembly calling for investigation of the anti-saloon activities within the state said yesterday that Mr. Rockefeller was paying the league official $15,000 per year.
